

Guidance on non-Danish property

Use this appendix if you own property abroad, in the Faroe Islands or in Greenland

You are legally obliged to provide information about your property. The deadline for submitting the appendix is the same as for your tax return.

You must also use this appendix for income and expenses, if any, concerning your non-Danish property. This could be rental income and interest expenses, including interest on both non-Danish and Danish loans if the loans were obtained for the purpose of acquiring the property. It does not matter whether the loans were obtained in Denmark or abroad. If the loans were obtained in Denmark, the interest entered in boxes 41 and 42 of your tax assessment notice (årsoppgørelsen) must be reduced by the amounts entered in this appendix.

If you have non-Danish interest income, for example, that is not associated with your property, you must use the tax return form for non-Danish income, form no. 04.012.

Guidance on boxes

Box 212, non-Danish property: When you own non-Danish property, you have to pay property value tax in Denmark. The property value tax is calculated based on the estimated market value of the property.

You are responsible for estimating and updating the market price of your non-Danish property each year. Go to skat.dk to see how you do this.

Box 218, share of property owned: Your share in percentage. If you own 20%, you enter 20.00 in the box.

Changes in the share owned of the property that took place during the income year

If during the income year there have been any changes in the share of the property that you own, if for example you have sold or bought an additional share of a property of which you already owned a part, you must enter all the information about your property, including the change in the share, as a "new" property.

Box 220, purchase and take over before 2 July 1998: If you owned the property before 2 July 1998, you get a relief on the property value tax. In order to get this relief, both you (as the buyer) and the seller must have signed the sales contract before 2 July 1998. The relief is also granted on your share of the property if you purchased an additional share after 2 July 1998 of a property of which you already owned a part prior to 2 July 1998.

Box 231, purchase and take over before 1 January 2024: If you owned your non-Danish property before 1 January 2024, you may be entitled to a tax rebate. The rebate is calculated automatically if you have marked "yes" in box 231.

Box 222, type of residence:

1. All-year residence or holiday home with permission for all-year residence
2. Holiday home
3. Two-family house with two owner-occupied home values
4. Two-family house with one owner-occupied home value
5. Owner-occupied apartment, all-year residence
6. Owner-occupied apartment, second home
7. Other properties (farmhouse, mixed property)

Boxes 226-230, acquisition: Enter the date you took over the property in box 226. If you moved in after the takeover date, you must give the moving-in date in box 228. If you moved into the property after the income year 2023, you must fill in box 230. You should not use the boxes 228 and 230 if the property acquired is a holiday home or is used as a second home.

Boxes 232-234, sale: Enter the date the buyer took over the property in box 232. If you sold the property during the income year, and if you moved out of the property during the income year 2024, you must state the date you moved, if the moving date was before the buyer's takeover date. You should not use this field if the property sold is a holiday home or is used as a second home.

Box 236, tow-family houses: Enter the total market value for the relevant year in box 236. See how you estimate the value at skat.dk/ejendomudland.

Box 240, uninhabitable: If your property was uninhabitable for some or all of the income year 2024, you may state the number of days during which the property was not habitable. A property is regarded as not habitable if you are temporarily prevented from using the property, for instance because of repairs after water damage, because of vandalism where all the windows were broken, or because the electricity, gas and water supplies were interrupted.

The property was uninhabitable on takeover during the income year. If you took over the property during the income year, and the property was uninhabitable at the date of takeover, and you moved in after the property became habitable, you should not state the number of days the property was uninhabitable. You should only state the moving-in date in box 228 and the takeover date in box 226.

Boxes 242-246, renting out part of your property: The boxes concerning renting out part of the property should only be completed if you use an accounting method (regnskabsmæssig opgørelse) to calculate tax deductions for certain expenses associated with the renting out of your property. If you rented out part of the property (rented out a room), you must fill in both box 242 and box 244.

Boxes 248-250, partial business use: In box 248 you must state the percentage of the total value of the part of the property which was used for business purposes. In box 250 you must state the number of days in the income year during which part of the property was used for business purposes.

Box 252, renting out of residential property on a commercial basis: Properties which are rented out on a commercial basis are not covered by the Danish Property Value Tax Act. If you began or ended the renting out on a commercial basis during the income year, you must state the number of days for which the property was rented out. If the property was rented out for the whole income year, you must enter 360 days.

Number of days in boxes 240, 242, 246, 250 and 252: The income year is 360 days with 30 days in every calendar month.

Box 254, non-Danish tax: If you have paid property tax outside Denmark, you can often get a tax relief in your Danish property value tax on your non-Danish property. However, you can't get a relief for basic taxes, registration fees and other taxes or fees in connection with transfer and mortgaging of the property. In box 254 you state the non-Danish property tax paid.

If you are several owners you have to state the property tax corresponding to your share. If you own 50%, you state the amount corresponding to half of the total non-Danish property tax. You must be able to document the non-Danish property tax paid.
